Domestic Tells of Death Of Woman in Physician's Home After an Operation

Lancaster, June 12 (AP)—The state today capped its story of the midnight moaning and death of Mrs. Gladys Lawson, of Calvert, Maryland, by laying a huge saw and sharp steel knives with which it contends her body was dismembered before the jury hearing its charges that Dr. H. C. Zimmerly, of Mechanics Grove, performed illegal operations.

State police testified the gruesome exhibits were found in the huttered farm house where the 67-year-old village surgeon had set up a make-shift hospital.

Blanche Stone, Zimmerly's domestic, chewed gum and twisted her handkerchief, as she described the death of the Calvert mother of two children at midnight, March 15.

In cross examination, she declared she was not afraid to enter the "haunted farm," asserting "I'm not scared of ghosts," but she said she was "afraid" to report the case to police or talk to neighbors.

A vivid story of the death of "the girl in red" which the state drew from the trembling lips of Miss Stone sent Mrs. Clara Crawford, a sister of the victim, shrieking and screaming from the court room.

"Take me back, take me back, I want to hear it all," the woman screamed as she was led from the room.

A recess was called to end the confusion, but the woman recovered, and returned to court.

BLAME DRIVER IN CAR CRASH

Edward Staudinger, of Newcastle, To Be Charged With Improper Passing.

Two automobiles were damaged, but the occupants escaped injury, when the machines collided on the brow of a hill on the Lincoln highway, at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening. As a result of the crash, an information charging one of the drivers with making an improper pass will be laid before Justice of the Peace Walter A. Snyder, Patrolman G. S. Harleman, of the local sub-station of the state highway patrol, who investigated, said.

Edward Staudinger, 23, of Newcastle, Pa., whom the officer charged with being at fault, was traveling east at about 40 miles an hour, when he attempted to pass another car, proceeding in the same direction, on the crest of a hill, according to Patrolman Harleman.

William R. Bowers, 34, of Hagerstown, traveling west at a speed of between 40 and 45 miles an hour, applied his brakes when he saw the two machines on the highway ahead in an effort to avoid an accident. At the same time, Staudinger, unable to get back in the line of traffic, swerved his car to the left to get off the highway, but the accident occurred before his machine was clear of the roadway.

Damage to Staudinger's car was estimated at $50, while damage to Bowers' machine was estimated at $75. Both cars had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

Sheriff Wible Urges Tattoo Of Chicks to Prevent Theft

Chicken stealing in Adams county will be made difficult if farmers cooperate with Sheriff John C. Wible by having their birds branded, as farmers of other counties and states are doing, Sheriff Wible told The Gettysburg Times today.

Work of tattooing the chickens has already been started in this county, and it is expected that six weeks will be required to finish the work.

The manner in which the birds are branded is thus: A tattoo instrument is left with each farmer, which has three letters made of needles, the middle letter being the key letter of Pennsylvania.

After the wing is stamped with the instrument, the ink is rubbed

Domestic Tells of Death Of Woman in Physician's Home After an Operation

Lancaster, June 12 (AP)—The state today capped its story of the midnight moaning and death of Mrs. Gladys Lawson, of Calvert, Maryland, by laying a huge saw and sharp steel knives with which it contends her body was dismembered before the jury hearing its charges that Dr. H. C. Zimmerly, of Mechanics Grove, performed illegal operations.

State police testified the gruesome exhibits were found in the littered farm house where the 67-year-old village surgeon had set up a make-shift hospital.

Blanche Stone, Zimmerly's domestic, chewed gum and twisted her handkerchief, as she described the death of the Calvert mother of two children at midnight, March 15.

In cross examination, she declared she was not afraid to enter the "haunted farm," asserting "I'm not scared of ghosts," but she said she was "afraid" to report the case to police or talk to neighbors.

A weird story of the death of "the girl in red" which the state drew from the trembling lips of Miss Stone sent Mrs. Clara Crawford, a sister of the victim, shrieking and screaming from the court room.

"Take me back, take me back, I want to hear it all," the woman screamed as she was led from the room.

A recess was called to end the confusion, but the woman recovered, and returned to court.

BLAME DRIVER IN CAR CRASH

Edward Staudinger, of Newcastle, To Be Charged With Improper Passing.

Two automobiles were damaged, but the occupants escaped injury, when the machines collided on the brow of a hill on the Lincoln highway, at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening. As a result of the crash, an information charging one of the drivers with making an improper pass will be laid before Justice of the Peace Walter A. Snyder, Patrolman G. S. Harleman, of the local sub-station of the state highway patrol, who investigated, said.

Edward Staudinger, 23, of Newcastle, Pa., whom the officer charges with being at fault, was traveling east at about 40 miles an hour, when he attempted to pass another car, proceeding in the same direction, on the crest of a hill, according to Patrolman Harleman.

William R. Bowers, 34, of Hagerstown, traveling west at a speed of between 40 and 45 miles an hour, applied his brakes when he saw the two machines on the highway ahead in an effort to avoid an accident. At the same time, Staudinger, unable to get back in the line of traffic, swerved his car to the left to get off the highway, but the accident occurred before his machine was clear of the roadway.

Damage to Staudinger's car was estimated at $50, while damage to Bowers' machine was estimated at $75. Both cars had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

Sheriff Wible Urges Tattoo Of Chicks to Prevent Theft

Chicken stealing in Adams county will be made difficult if farmers co-operate with Sheriff John C. Wible by having their birds branded, as farmers of other counties and states are doing, Sheriff Wible told The Gettysburg Times today.

Work of tattooing the chickens has already been started in this county, and it is expected that six weeks will be required to finish the work.

The manner in which the birds are branded is this: A tattoo instrument is left with each farmer, which has three letters made of needles, the middle letter being the key letter of Pennsylvania.

After the wing is stamped with the instrument, the ink is rubbed

WOMEN FAVOR BIRTH CONTROL

Club Federation Adopts Resolution; Most "Radical" Action in Years.

Detroit, June 12 (AP)—The general federation of women's clubs, in what delegates termed the most radical action since it gave support to suffrage, approved Tuesday by resolution the dissemination of birth control information through scientifically regulated sources.

The resolution, asserting that "it is of utmost importance to all Americans that the population of our country be vigorous and healthy both mentally and physically, and that proper and intelligent use of scientific contraceptive methods under direction of qualified and reputable physicians is essential to these ends," was adopted by the convention 493 to 17.

No Opposition Met
Organized opposition to the resolution, anticipated by its sponsors, failed to materialize, but world court adherence, which most of the affiliated clubs previously had approved by proxy because a burning question when Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, of Washington, offered a forty-word amendment.

The amendment would have placed the federation on record as urging "that the code of law to be administered by the world court shall not contain any inequalities based on sex."

No sooner had it reached the rostrum than world court was forgotten, and for a half hour the battle raged over woman's right in the sun.

Speaks For Court
Eventually Miss Avis Long, of St. Louis, federation peace leader, gained the floor and diverted attention back to the world court. "It seems far more important," she said, "to provide protection for women and their families than to raise the question of rights. Man and women suffers just the same during war."

The amendment was defeated, 142 to 256, but the resolution itself passed by an overwhelming vote. Opposition to the birth-control resolution came chiefly from delegates who held the information should be restricted to married persons or those contemplating marriage, and should be distributed by "family physicians."

WOMEN FAVOR BIRTH CONTROL

Club Federation Adopts Resolution; Most "Radical" Action in Years.

Detroit, June 12 (AP)—The general federation of women's clubs, in what delegates termed the most radical action since it gave support to suffrage, approved Tuesday by resolution the dissemination of birth control information through scientifically regulated sources.

The resolution, asserting that "it is of utmost importance to all Americans that the population of our country be vigorous and healthy both mentally and physically, and that proper and intelligent use of scientific contraceptive methods under direction of qualified and reputable physicians is essential to these ends," was adopted by the convention 493 to 17.

No Opposition Met Organized opposition to the resolution, anticipated by its sponsors, failed to materialize, but world court adherence, which most of the affiliated clubs previously had approved by proxy became a burning question when Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, of Washington, offered a forty-word amendment.

The Amendment would have placed the federation on record as urging "that the code of law to be administered by the world court shall not contain any inequalities based on sex."

No sooner had it reached the rostrum than world court was forgotten, and for a half hour the battle raged over woman's right in the sun.

Speaks For Court

Eventually Miss Avis Long, of St. Louis, federation peace leader, gained the floor and diverted attention back to the world court. "It seems far more important," she said, "to provide protection for women and their families than to raise the question of rights. Man and woman suffers just the same during war."

The amendment was defeated, 142 to 256, but the resolution itself passed by an overwhelming vote.

Opposition to the birth-control resolution came chiefly from delegates who held the information should be restricted to married persons or those contemplating marriage, and should be distributed by "family physicians."

Richmond, Va., June 12 (AP)—The next time President F. W. Boatwright, of the University of Richmond, goes to a commencement banquet he probably will post a guard about his home. It's this way:

While he was attending a banquet given in his honor Monday night at the completion of his fortieth year as head of the school, thieves ransacked his home thoroughly and leisurely. Books were pulled from their shelves, drawers and desks were defaced, and loot valued at some $50 taken.

ENEMY'S KISS

SYNOPSIS: Alison Rede and Guy Lumley last have straightened out the tangle between them. They also have determined that Daphne Sumers, who is marrying Alison's father today, is the same woman who ruled Guy's practice on the Riviera, and killed her former husband in the bargain. Guy is just finishing his explanation of his presence in Daphne's vacant house in Sussex.

Chapter 39.

"I really meant to tell you the whole truth that first time we were lunched," said Guy, "only you said something."

"I mentioned Daphne?"

"Yes. Her name was Daphne Poynter. So I thought I'd go warily and find out a little more first about Mrs. Daphne Sumers and whether she was the same woman before I said anything."

Alison nodded.

"I'd have told you, meant to tell you, the next time we met," he went on. "But when you told me it was her house and how your father met her and that he was marrying her in six weeks, I saw suddenly why she might want me out of her way. And I didn't want to frighten you."

"Then you're pretty sure she is that woman?"

"Plumb certain."

Alison pushed back her chair, stood up. The world was real again and it had darkened suddenly.

"I'm afraid so, if she marries him."

"But she is marrying father now, today, at one-thirty?"

The bronze-faced clock over the archway of the stairs pointed to ten minutes to one.

"Come on!" Guy jumped to his feet and fled towards the stairs, digging in his pockets as he ran. The cashier said, "Your bill, sir?" But he threw a note down on the desk without waiting for change.

They raced up Southampton street and scrambled, breathless, into the car.

"Where'll she be?"

"I don't know," admitted Alison. "He was to fetch her from her flat, but I don't know when. She might be there."

"We'll try it first, anyway."

He threw in the clutch and the car gathered speed down hill Alison, holding on tight as the speedometer mounted and the light car rocked, said, "I'm afraid father won't believe you!"

"I'm not counting on that. I'm going to see her and bluff."

A policeman's hand was going out as Guy tried to dodge between two buses travelling in opposite directions; he missed them both by landing on the island. He hit the center post neatly, tried to back off and found his way blocked by a large blue arm.

"Driving to the danger," said the policeman grimly. "I'll see your license, please."

"Oh, please," Alison leaned forward, "we didn't mean to do anything wrong! But it's terribly urgent. It's—it's a matter of life and death!"

The policeman was sympathetic but unimpressed.

"Sorry, miss, I've got to do my duty. I'll see your insurance, too, sir, please."

He was a large policeman, even as policemen go, and he was leicrally.

"Listen, Guy. I'll get a taxi and go on. I'll try and keep her!"

"No! You mustn't go near her—it's not safe!"

But his protest was lost. Alison was already out of the car and running to the pavement.

"Flat's number 13," she called back to him as, waving she hailed a taxi.

She was getting into it as Guy leaped out and tried to follow. A ham-sized hand in a white glove fastened on his arm and dragged him back.

Guy was not a light weight. He gave a shove. The policeman reeled, his helmet did an undignified somersault into the road but he held on.

With one word "Assault!" he summed up the case and blew upon his whistle.

Guy found himself staring back over his shoulder at a taxi's tail-lamp as it vanished while two large policemen propelled him none too gently in the direction of the nearest police station.

Alison, in the taxi, had seen none of these last events.

Nine minutes past one! Would she be in time? Not far to go but the taxi-driver had no romantic urge to hurry.

As the taxi drew up, Alison turned. She ran up one flight of steps, through a short, dark passage and down three more steps to a little half-glass door set cornerwise and marked in brass "13."

A slatternly-looking scrap of a maid answered the bell.

"Mrs. Sumers can't see no one now, she's packing." The maid stood in the crack of the door and held it tight.

"But I must," Alison was desperate.

The maid shook her head.

"If it's the installment people, she said you was to come back tomorrow and you can take the stuff away."

"It's nothing to do with money!" Alison almost wailed. "I've come from Major Rede, who's marrying Mrs. Sumers!"

"If you'd said that at first," grumbled the maid and opened the rest

RENO, Nev., June 12 (AP)—Pearl Buck, the former missionary who became famous for her novels about China, won a divorce and a new husband here Tuesday.

She divorced John L. Buck and then married Richard J. Walsh after her close friend, Mrs. Ruth A. Walsh, divorced the wealthy New York publisher.

Mrs. Buck and Walsh, partner in the company which recently published the novelist's trilogy, "House of Earth," were married by the Rev. C. Thompson, dean of men at the University of Nevada and ordained Baptist minister.

Dean Thompson said Mrs. Walsh had witnessed the ceremony. Other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Kolak, of Reno.

Immediately after the marriage, the newlyweds left by automobile on a honeymoon trip, presumably for California.

George B. Whiteley, who was at evidence. He turned the money over to Boland, he said, after deducting $50 himself as a fee. Boland, it is alleged, made contacts with several capital police characters in an effort to have some one "bump off" Mr. Lyddane.

Thomas And Davis Accused

Two of the men he is said to have approached—Harry Thomas and Edward J. Davis—are similarly charged with having a part in the "double-murder conspiracy" for which Mr. Lyddane is reputed to have offered the sum of $2000 to be paid on the installment plan.

The other person to be killed, according to the state, was Mrs. Josephine Beall wife of Arthur Beall, of Darnestown. Mrs. Beall named Mrs. Lyddane as correspondent in a divorce case several years ago. The suit subsequently was dropped.

Appropriation Measure Provides Increase in State Money for Charity Work.

The Annie M. Warner hospital, of Gettysburg, is one of 130 state hospitals throughout the state for which an increase in the appropriation of state funds for the next two years has been recommended in a measure before the legislature at Harrisburg, which has been reported to the lower house by the committee in charge.

While the Warner hospital has appropriated $7,700 the last two years toward the much larger amount required for charity work, the appropriation has been fixed this year at $11,615. There is no assurance that this amount will be finally given, for it is subject to change in either house or senate before passage, and the governor also has the prerogative of changing it before affixing his signature.

Besides the charity work the hospital is required to do for indigent of the county requiring aid, the local institution suffers a heavy drain on its resources through the unusual large number of emergency cases, such as week-end automobile accidents. Even the proposed increase in the appropriation of state funds for the Warner hospital for the next two years "will not near meet the amount the hospital will be required to expend for charity work, on the basis of past demands," hospital authorities point out.

All Hospitals Queried

The house committee decided on the amount for each hospital after examining questionnaires sent to each. Hospital officials were queried on the amounts needed and the purposes for which the state aid was intended.

In a report to the house, the committee recommended "more equal distribution" of state aid to hospitals. It charged that about a dozen hospitals failed to extend free service in the amount for which they were paid by the state, and criticized legislative "log rolling" in connection with the grants. The appropriation for those hospitals has been reduced in the measure.

ENEMY'S KISS

SYNOPSIS: Allison Rede and Guy Lumley at last have straightened out the tangle between them. They also have determined that Daphne Sumers, who is marrying Allison's father today, is the same woman who ruined Guy's practice on the Riviera, and killed her former husband in the bargain. Guy is just finishing his explanation of his presence in Daphne's vacant house in Sussex.

Chapter 39.

"I really meant to tell you the whole truth that first time we lunched," said Guy, "only you said something."

"I mentioned Daphne?"

"Yes. Her name was Daphne Poynter. So I thought I'd go warily and find out a little more first about Mrs. Daphne Sumers and whether she was the same woman before I said anything."

Allison nodded.

"I'd have told you, meant to tell you, the next time we met," he went on. "But when you told me it was her house and how your father met her and that he was marrying her in six weeks, I saw suddenly why she might want me out of her way. And I didn't want to frighten you."

"Then you're pretty sure she is that woman?"

"Plumb certain."

Allison pushed back her chair, stood up. The world was real again and it had darkened suddenly.

"I'm afraid so, if she marries him."

"But she is marrying father now, today, at one-thirty!"

The bronze-faced clock over the archway of the stairs pointed to ten minutes to one.

"Come on!" Guy jumped to his feet and fled towards the stairs, digging in his pockets as he ran. The cashier said, "Your bill, sir?" But he threw a note down on the desk without waiting for change.

They raced up Southampton street and scrambled, breathless, into the car.

"Where'll she be?"

"I don't know," admitted Allison. "He was to fetch her from her flat, but I don't know when. She might be there."

"We'll try it first, anyway."

He threw in the clutch and the car gathered speed down hill Allison, holding on tight as the speedometer mounted and the light car rocked, said, "I'm afraid father won't believe you!"

"I'm not counting on that. I'm going to see her and bluff."

A policeman's hand was going out as Guy tried to dodge between two buses travelling in opposite directions; he missed them both by landing on the island. He hit the center post neatly, tried to back off and found his way blocked by a large blue arm.

"Driving to the danger," said the policeman grimly. "I'll see your license, please."

"Oh, please," Allison leaned forward, "we didn't mean to do anything wrong! But it's terribly urgent. It's—it's a matter of life and death!"

The policeman was sympathetic but unimpressed.

"Sorry, miss, I've got to do my duty. I'll see your insurance, too, sir, please."

The policeman was sympathetic but unimpressed.

"Sorry, miss, I've got to do my duty. I'll see your insurance, too, sir, please."

He was a large policeman, even as policemen go, and he was leisurely.

"Listen, Guy. I'll get a taxi and go on. I'll try and keep her!"

"No! You mustn't go near her—it's not safe!"

But his protest was lost. Allison was already out of the car and running to the pavement.

"Flat's number 13," she called back to him as, waving she hailed a taxi.

She was getting into it as Guy leaped out and tried to follow. A ham-sized hand in a white glove fastened on his arm and dragged him back.

Guy was not a light weight. He gave a shove. The policeman reeled, his helmet did an undignified somersault into the road but he held on.

With one word "Assault!" he summed up the case and blew upon his whistle.

Guy found himself staring back over his shoulder at a taxi's tail-lamp as it vanished while two large policemen propelled him none too gently in the direction of the nearest police station.

Allison, in the taxi, had seen none of these last events.

Nine minutes past one! Would she be in time? Not far to go but the taxi-driver had no romantic urge to hurry.

As the taxi drew up, Allison tumbled out. She ran up one flight of steps, through a short, dark passage and down three more steps to a little half-glass door set cornerwise and marked in brass "13."

A slatternly-looking scrap of a maidervant answered the bell.

"Mrs. Sumers can't see no one now, she's packing." The maid stood in the crack of the door and held it tight.

"But I must," Allison was desperate.

The maid shook her head.

"If it's the installment people, she said you was to come back tomorrow and you can take the stuff away."

"It's nothing to do with money!" Allison almost wailed. "I've come from Major Rede, who's marrying Mrs. Sumers!"

"If you'd said that at first," grumbled the maid and opened the rest of the door, letting Allison into a narrow hall.

"She's in there," said the maid, tipping a grimy thumb towards the first door. Considering that this information was enough, she went down the passage, leaving Allison to find her way in alone.

The door gave on the sitting room which she had seen once before, but it was exceedingly untidy. A small white dog, a hillock of tissue paper and at trunk occupied the middle of the floor and Daphne was on her knees trying to get a trunk shut. She did not look round.

"Ethel, come and sit on this," she ordered.

Allison sat down on the trunk; Daphne, her head bent, heaved. The lock clicked and she sat back on her heels in triumph.

"Yes," said Allison. "It's me."

"I see it is!" Daphne rose, dusting down her dress. "You've changed your mind then?"

"I've come to see you," said Allison. "I—I've got to talk to you."

"Oh?" Daphne reached out for a label, one of a pile which lay addressed on a low chair. "I'm afraid I haven't time to listen now. I've got to be ready to go with your father in a quarter of an hour to the registry office. If you want to talk, why not come along with us?"

Allison had come into the room feeling rather frightened but the cool tone of the woman, the remembrance of the fact that she was the centerpiece of Guy's story, made her forget her fear in a rush of anger.

"All right. I'll come if you like," she flung it at her, "but if you won't listen to me, I'll have to tell father, that's all—Mrs. Poynter."

The silence lasted while a person might count five; then Daphne put out her hand, took a cigarette from a packet which lay open on the chair and lit it slowly, looking steadily at Allison above the flame.

"I see!" she said. "Well, what do you want to say?"

"Only this," Allison faced her standing. "I've found out all about you. I don't want to be beastly but you can either clear out now and leave a note for father saying that it's off, or I shall have to tell him the truth. I'm not going on my own word either. I've got someone else to prove what I'm saying."

"Dr. Lumley, of course!" Daphne gave a faint crow of laughter.

"Yes, Dr. Lumley," Allison was not shaken now. She felt safe. He would be here at any minute to back her up and at all costs she must keep Daphne until then. "He knows all about you—and the anonymous letters that you wrote—and everything."

Daphne drawled, "Everything? Be a little more explicit!"

"All right!" Involuntarily, Allison's eyes flew to the square plated clock on the oval writing table. One twelve . . . "If you want me to tell you. He knows that you murdered your husband, and that you hate him because he tried to stop you and that you wrote to all his patients telling stories about him to get even."

Somehow, somewhere, it was missing fire! As she spoke, Allison could see that. Daphne was smiling; a tight-lipped, unkind smile. She said icily, "When you've quite finished repeating all these libels, perhaps you'd let me speak? You don't know, I suppose, that you can get two years in jail for repeating libels like that?"

Allison did not believe it but even if it was true she did not mind. She was worked up now to a pitch when nothing mattered any more.

(Copyright, 1935, Evelyn M. Winch)

Allison is horrified at Daphne's sinister plan, tomorrow.

Pearl Buck Secures Divorce, New Husband in Few Hours

Reno, Nev., June 12 (AP)—Pearl Buck, the former missionary who became famous for her novels about China, won a divorce and a new husband here Tuesday.

She divorced John L. Buck and then married Richard J. Walsh after her close friend, Mrs. Ruth A. Riddiemoer, 3b, said she was the strangest matrimonial triangles in Reno history.

Both charged "extreme cruelty," but omitted all details.

Mrs. Buck was awarded her divorce at a ten-minute secret hearing before Judge Benjamin F. Currier.

Mrs. Walsh and Walsh, partner in the company which recently published the novelist's trilogy, "House of Earth," were married by the Rev. P. C. Thompson, dean of men at the University of Nevada and ordained Baptist minister.

Dean Thompson said Mrs. Walsh had witnessed the ceremony. Other witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Kolak, of Reno.

Immediately after the marriage, the newlyweds left by automobile on a honeymoon trip, presumably for California.

Two of the men he is said to have approached—Harry Thomas and Edward J. Davis—are similarly charged with having a part in the "double-murder conspiracy" for which Mr. Lyddane is reputed to have offered the sum of $2000 to be paid on the installment plan.

The other person to be killed, according to the state, was Mrs. Josephine Beall, wife of Arthur Beall, of Darnestown. Mrs. Beall named Mrs. Lyddane as correspondent in a divorce case several years ago. The suit subsequently was dropped.

Appropriation Measure Provides Increase in State Money for Charity Work.

The Annie M. Warner hospital, of Gettysburg, is one of 130 state-aid hospitals throughout the state for which an increase in the appropriation of state funds for the next two years has been recommended in a measure before the legislature at Harrisburg, which has been reported to the lower house by the committee in charge.

While the Warner hospital has appropriated $7,700 the last two years toward the much larger amount required for charity work, the appropriation has been fixed this year at $11,615. The house committee decided on the amount for each hospital after examining questionnaires sent to each. Hospital officials were queried on the amounts needed and the purposes for which the state aid was intended.

In a report to the house, the committee recommended "more equal distribution" of state aid to hospitals. It charged that about a dozen hospitals failed to extend free service in the amount for which they were paid by the state, and criticized cized legislative "log rolling" in connection with the grants. The appropriation for those hospitals has been reduced in the measure.

WHEN you choose your 1935 car, think how it will compare with the new cars a year or two from now! That's what will decide its trade-in value.

Who will want to be driving—then—with anything less than complete steel protection? Terraplane gives you that protection now, in America's only bodies all of steel.

Will you want brakes that are up to date or out of date? Terraplane's police-tested brakes have cut "perfect stopping" almost in half in public tests from coast to coast.

Rt. Rev. John W. Shanahan, bishop of the diocese of Harrisburg, was present at the commencement exercises and made the address of the evening at the close of the entertainment program.

The Citizens band furnished the music for the evening's program

Edna Zincaud received generous applause and Clarence J. Breighner delivered the salutatory. In the first portion of the program was a piano trio by Ruth Strausbaugh, Helen
Stock and Gertrude Slonaker.

The feature of the evening was an elaborate cantata "Cinderella in Flowerland." The costumes were beautiful and the stage effects most pleasing.

Grace Ramer made an ideal

the part of the prince very well. The two hateful sisters were depicted
by Gertrude Slonaker and Helen deserves mention.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams
A ROBIN'S NEST

I HAVE seen robins' nests all my life, and every robin has been my friend, but this spring I have had occasion to take new interest in this lovely bird. One built a nest upon the top of a drain pipe just underneath the roof of my home, and within a foot of a small window in a closet, which made it possible for me to see the entire process of home building and family rearing right under my eyes.

I saw the happy robin bring small twigs and grass for days, until she had a lovely, sturdy and marvelous home for her future family. Soon appeared three small blue eggs. Then, after a short time, three tiny bodies with long necks and big heads—with just a scattering of fine down upon each young body, or so it seemed.

How thrilling to watch the mother bird warm the delicate small birds.
Then she would fly away and at every noise the heads would rise and three mouths—almost as big as the heads themselves—would open. But eyesight not yet being given, when no food would be forthcoming, down they would drop. Soon the mother, however, would return and something would be placed in each open mouth.

A week passed. Now the birds had acquired their first feathers and had grown in body and been made able to withstand a longer absence of the mother. I noted the eyes of each begin to open. I wondered what they thought of this new world! For long periods I stood in the darkness of the closet and studied the mother bird and her brood. What an honest eye the mother bird had. All her time given to her home. No time for teas, cocktail parties, or anything—just giving up all her time to see that each one of her gifts received every possible chance for a life as healthy and happy as hers.

The only time that mother robins became worried, or excited, was when she thought her brood was in danger. Otherwise she was content —happy.

No matter how scarce the worms, or other food, that robin mother got sufficient to bring her family through. God gave her wisdom, and he has given his human beings wisdom, too, but some of us do not use it to the best advantage. I don't note any other robin, or bird, helping her out.
She got her own food.

I don't know exactly why—but that robin's nest, and her devotion, her contentment and happiness, have greatly inspired me. One of the glories of springtime is its bird-nesting time.

TURNING THE TABLES
"Give me the names of men who know you well."

The grave employer said. "Before
I hire
A servant it is only fair to tell That always of his fitness I inquire."

Where last you worked and, say,
where once before
Will be enough. I'll question only two.

Come back tomorrow. You need stay no more.

I want to know what sort of man are you."

"Quite right," the man replied.
"Now in good turn
Give me the names of men who've worked for you."

Something of you I'd also like to learn

Before I undertake your work to do.

I think it only fair that I should make
A few inquiries of my own to find
If you treat servants civilly or take Advantage of their need to be unkind."

"As master do you treat your help with scorn.

Snap orders at them, since they must obey.

And think that every insult must be borne

Without resentment for the wage you pay?

Do former servants still remain your friends?

Did you appreciate the things they tried to do?

I want to know—so much on this depends—
If it were wise to try to work for you."

Birth Control Probe Voted By Doctors to Fix Attitude

Atlantic City, N. J., June 12 (AP).
—The American Medical association
voted Tuesday to appoint a special committee to investigate birth control and report next year.

The action was the first the organization ever has taken on the controversial matter.

The house of delegates, governing body of American medicine, in voting unanimously on this course of action passed over resolutions from six states and the American gynecological society urging immediate action on the problem. Medical associations of New York, the District of Columbia, Arkansas, Maine, California, and New Mexico all submitted
suggestions on birth control.

Says Use Is Encouraged
The official resolution declared that "under the stimulus of large non-medical groups the general use of contraceptives is being advocated and encouraged despite the existing law, not only by the above-mention groups but by commercial interests as well."

Under the present situation, it added, "the ultimate effect of these measures is unknown if not questionable and should accurately and extensively be studied by the medical profession in whose care the health of the people rests."
Calls Laws Complicated
The resolution also declared that federal and state laws regulating birth-control advice which a physician may give to individual patients as therapeutic measures is "complicated and not well understood," and interpretations of those measures
are "generally unsatisfactory."

A special committee of investigation will be appointed by the association's board of trustees to study
the subject from a medical standpoint.

Action on the controversial question was precipitated by the national medical committee on federal and state contraceptive legislation, an organization of approximately 200
physicians headed by Dr. Fred L.
Adair, of Chicago.

A fatal new ear disease, and a complete cure for it—an "earache" which hurts in the eye and has been mistaken for meningitis in the past
—was described at the association's scientific exhibition.

The ear trouble is officially called a "new disease entity" . . . which means that it is a complete, separate disease by itself like pneumonia or tuberculosis. It was discovered
by Drs. Samuel J. Kopetzky, Henry
K. Taylor and Ralph Almour, of the Beth Israel Hospital, New York
city.

WARRANTS IN HAGERSTOWN SLAYING CASE EXPECTED
Hagerstown, June 12 (AP).—
State's Attorney Martin L. Ingram said Tuesday that warrants probably would be issued within 24 hours for the slayer or slayers of David L.
Buchanan, 80-year-old rooming house proprietor who was beaten to death here June 1.

Ingram said only a few minor points remain to be cleared up before the state can act. Circumstantial evidence, he said, confirms the opinion of officers that two men were implicated in the crime. A blood-stained shirt, with all the buttons missing, is expected to be one of the chief clues of the state.

The buttons are believed to have been torn to avoid a check with a button found near Buchanan's body.
Police still are searching for the weapon with which Buchanan's pull was crushed.

exercises and made the address of the evening at the close of the entertainment program.

The Citizens band furnished the
music for the evening's program
and after their first selection Miss Anna Eckenrode made the address of welcome to the bishop.

A piano duet by Helen Stock and Edna Zinzand received generous applause and Clarence J. Breighner delivered the salutatory. In the first portion of the program was a piano
trio by Ruth Strausbaugh, Helen
Stock and Gertrude Slonaker.

The feature of the evening was an elaborate cantata "Cinderella in Flowerland." The costumes were beautiful and the stage effects most pleasing.

Grace Ramer made an ideal Cinderella while Simon Stock took the part of the prince very well. The two hateful sisters were depicted
by Gertrude Slonaker and Helen Stock, while Ralph Redding also deserves mention.

After the valedictory by Miss Zita Ramer, Rev. Fr. T. W. Hayes presented diplomas to seven graduates of the school: Clarence J. Breighner, Myrtle I. Culp, Ann C. Ecken-

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams
A ROBIN'S NEST

I HAVE seen robins' nests all my life, and every robin has been my friend, but this spring I have had occasion to take new interest in this lovely bird. One built a nest upon the top of a drain pipe just underneath the roof of my home, and within a foot of a small window in a closet, which made it possible for me to see the entire process of home building and family rearing right under my eyes.

I saw the happy robin bring small twigs and grass for days, until she had a lovely, sturdy and marvelous home for her future family. Soon appeared three small blue eggs. Then, after a short time, three tiny bodies with long necks and big heads—with just a scattering of fine down upon each young body, or so it seemed.

How thrilling to watch the mother bird warm the delicate small birds.
Then she would fly away and at every noise the heads would rise and three mouths—almost as big as the heads themselves—would open. But eyesight not yet being given, when no food would be forthwith, down they would drop. Soon the mother, however, would return and something would be placed in each open mouth.

A week passed. Now the birds had acquired their first feathers and had grown in body and been made able to withstand a longer absence of the mother. I noted the eyes of each begin to open. I wondered what they thought of this new world! For long periods I stood in the darkness of the closet and studied the mother bird and her brood. What an honest eye the mother bird had. All her time given to her home. No time for teas, cocktail parties, or anything—just giving up all her time to see that each one of her gifts received every possible chance for a life
as healthy and happy as hers.

The only time that mother robins became worried, or excited, was when she thought her brood was in danger. Otherwise she was content —happy.

No matter how scarce the worms, or other food, that robin mother got sufficient to bring her family through. God gave her wisdom, and he has given his human beings wisdom, too, but some of us do not use it to the best advantage. I didn't note any other robin, or bird, helping her out.
She got her own food.

I don't know exactly why—but that robin's nest, and her devotion, her contentment and happiness, have greatly inspired me. One of the glories of springtime is its bird-nesting time.

Birth Control Probe Voted
By Doctors to Fix Attitude

Atlantic City, N. J., June 12 (AP).
—The American Medical association
voted Tuesday to appoint a special committee to investigate birth control and report next year.

The action was the first the organization ever has taken on the
controversial matter.

The house of delegates, governing body of American medicine, in voting unanimously on this course of action passed over resolutions from
six states and the American gynecol-
ogical society urging immediate action on the problem. Medical associations of New York, the District of Columbia, Arkansas, Maine, California, and New Mexico all submitted
suggestions on birth control.

Says Use Is Encouraged
The official resolution declared
that "under the stimulus of large
non-medical groups the general use
of contraceptives is being advocated
and encouraged despite the existing
law, not only by the above-mention groups but by commercial interests as well."

Under the present situation, it added, "the ultimate effect of these measures is unknown if not questionable and should accurately and
extensively be studied by the medical profession in whose care the health of the people rests."

Calls Laws Complicated
The resolution also declared that federal and state laws regulating birth-control advice which a physician may give to individual patients
as therapeutic measures is "complicated and not well understood," and interpretations of those measures
are "generally unsatisfactory."

A special committee of investigation will be appointed by the association's board of trustees to study
the subject from a medical standpoint.

Action on the controversial question was precipitated by the national medical committee on federal and state contraceptive legislation, an organization of approximately 200
physicians headed by Dr. Fred L.
Adair, of Chicago.

A fatal new ear disease, and a complete cure for it—an "earache"
which hurts in the eye and has been mistaken for meningitis in the past
—was described at the association's
scientific exhibition.

The ear trouble is officially called
a "new disease entity" . . . which means that it is a complete, separate disease by itself like pneumonia
or tuberculosis. It was discovered
by Drs. Samuel J. Kopetzky, Henry
K. Taylor and Ralph Almour, of
the Beth Israel Hospital, New York
city.

DEAD MAN AND CAPONE LINKED

Believe New Yorker Was Friend of Gangster and Had "Valuable Papers."

New York, June 12 (AP).—The enigma of John C. Hammond's past provided an air of mystery yesterday to the death of the elderly lawyer and his 26-year-old bride in their penthouse apartment, although police officially wrote it off as accidental gas poisoning.

A published report ascribed to an unidentified friend of the dead man that gangsters believed Hammond had important papers entrusted to him by Al Capone before he was sent to prison and that they had made attempts to take them by force was scoffed at by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ethel M. Lee, and authorities professed no knowledge of it.

His Past Checked

Detectives did seek to check information from the same source, however, that Hammond was formerly a colonel in the army intelligence division, that he had been editor of a newspaper in Denver, Colorado, and that he had served as publicity agent for the Mexican government here. This, too, was doubted by Mrs. Lee, although she acknowledged she had known Hammond for only three years.

The unidentified friend was quoted by the New York Sun as saying Hammond represented Capone in Chicago in an attempt to settle his income tax difficulties with the government.

"I'm in a lot of trouble," he quoted Hammond as saying at that time. "You know that I was a friend of Al Capone, but I had nothing to do with his activities. In his own way he's a square guy, but as tough as they make 'em."

The friend said Hammond showed him a letter from Capone in which the gangster had written: "You're the only square guy I can depend on."

Later Hammond was said to have related a story of being kidnapped by mobsters who broke his wrist and ankle in an effort to obtain Capone's papers from him until "somebody got word to Capone in Atlanta penitentiary and he ordered them to lay off or his friends would get to work."

Whiskey Poisoned

charge of malicious mischief growing out of the killing of two horses of his elder brother and neighbor, Charles Gunder, on May 19.

Judge Watson R. Davison deferred sentence pending disposition of cross-suits of aggravated assault and battery brought by the brothers against each other.

Sergeant W. W. Frutchey of the state police testified Hugh fatally wounded two horses of Charles when they strayed into Hugh's land and said there has been enmity between the brothers for several years due to differences over the settling of their mother's estate.

BELIEVE MAHAN TRIED HOLDUP

Agents Hot on Trail of Kidnap-Suspect; Robbery Attempt Frustrated.

Butte, Mont., June 12 (AP).—A fresh trail of William Mahan, Weyerhaeuser kidnap suspect, who followed by squads of police Tuesday night after he was reported to have been driven by hunger to attempt a hotel hold-up at Dillon, 75 miles southwest of here.

Department of justice agents and police covered the entire countryside west of here after H. E. Andrus, hotel keeper at Dillon, and his daughter, Mrs. Farnam Brown, disclosed a man they believed to be Mahan came into their place Monday night and asked for money for a meal.

Resembles Mahan

They said they believed he intended to hold them up, but fled when several persons entered the lobby. Andrus said his visitor closely resembled pictures of Mahan.

An Anaconda, northwest of here, police said there was a heavy concentration of department of justice men and there were indications they were close on the trail of the elusive Mahan.

The search for Mahan—32-year-old paroled robber implicated by two confessed members of the kidnap gang held here—ranged throughout the west and along the Canadian border. Hundreds joined in the chase.

$84,000 Sought

Investigators made no secret of their conviction that when Mahan is found some $84,000 of the $200,000 paid by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Sr., of Tacoma, Washington, for the return of their nine-year-old son, will be found with him.

Finding of $116,000 of the money was announced at Washington Tuesday by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the department of justice, with the recovery of $90,700 in Emigration Canyon, five miles south of here.

Breaking under questioning as they had done in implicating Mahan, Harmon M. Waley, 24-year-old ex-convict, and his blond, 19-year-old wife, Margaret, told investigators at Salt Lake City where the money would be found, Hoover said.

Hoover said Mahan may have "short-changed" Waley, who, he said, apparently received only $95,000 of the $200,000.

Rats are about the worst "public enemies" on a farm, says G. C. Oederkirk, of the United States biological survey. In addition to destroying feed, they kill baby chicks by thousands.

THREE STATES TO MARK LINCOLN'S WEDDING DATE

Springfield, Ky., June 12 (AP).—Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois today joined in an observance of the one hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the marriage of Abraham Lincoln's parents, Thomas Lincoln and Nancy Hanks, in ceremonies at Lincoln Homestead park near here.

Fifty characters in pioneer costumes will take part in a pageant re-enacting the wedding ceremony. James Gregory and Miss Marian Campbell, of Washington county, will represent the principals, and the Rev. J. R. McAfee, pastor of the Springfield Methodist Episcopal church, will represent the Rev. Jesse Head, who read the vows at the wedding on June 12, 1806.

Governors of the three states have been invited to attend.

"I'D RATHER CRASH INTO THE BLEACHERS THAN HAVE ANOTHER BLOW-OUT"

says Al Simmons

Chicago White Sox
"I WAS speeding along about 40 miles an hour in Arizona on my way to the spring training camp in California," says Al Simmons, "when one of my tires blew out. My car shot off the road. Right then and there my ball-playing days were nearly ended. You'll find Goodrich Silvertowns on my car now."

Remember, Goodrich Silvertowns may save your life! They're the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply, the Goodrich invention that resists the terrific heat generated inside the tire by today's high speeds. If you want real blow-out protection—and months of extra mileage—put Silvertowns on all four wheels. They cost no more than other standard tires.

Later Hammond was said to have related a story of being kidnapped by mobsters who broke his wrist and ankle in an effort to obtain Capone's papers from him until "somebody got word to Capone in Atlanta penitentiary and he ordered them to lay off or his friends would get to work."

Whiskey Poisoned

The friend said recently he visited the Hammonds at the penthouse where they were found dead Monday and both Hammond and his wife said gangsters had poisoned their whiskey.

BELIEVE MAHAN TRIED HOLDUP

Agents Hot on Trail of Kidnap-Suspect; Robbery Attempt Frustrated.

Butte, Mont., June 12 (AP).—A fresh trail of William Mahan, Weyerhaeuser kidnap suspect, who followed by squads of police Tuesday night after he was reported to have been driven by hunger to attempt a hotel hold-up at Dillon, 75 miles southwest of here.

Department of justice agents and police covered the entire countryside west of here after H. E. Andrus, hotel keeper at Dillon, and his daughter, Mrs. Farnam Brown, disclosed a man they believed to be Mahan came into their place Monday night and asked for money or a meal.

Resembles Mahan

They said they believed he intended to hold them up, but fled when several persons entered the lobby. Andrus said his visitor closely resembled pictures of Mahan.

An Anaconda, northwest of here, police said there was a heavy concentration of department of justice men and there were indications they were close on the trail of the elusive Mahan.

The search for Mahan—32-year-old paroled robber implicated by two confessed members of the kidnap gang held here—ranged throughout the west and along the Canadian border. Hundreds joined in the chase.

$84,000 Sought

Investigators made no secret of their conviction that when Mahan is found some $84,000 of the $200,000 paid by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Sr., of Tacoma, Washington, for the return of their nine-year-old son, will be found with him.

KINDERGARTEN REFUSED USE OF QUARTERS

Fire Company Will Turn Social Room Over to Firemen On Saturday.

WILL PARADE IN TWO TOWNS

The Adams county council of emergency education will have to look for other quarters for the Gettysburg kindergarten school, located in the social rooms of the fire engine house, East Middle street, since the first of this year.

By action taken at the June meeting of the fire company, Wednesday evening, permission to use the social rooms after Saturday, June 15, was refused.

The firemen originally gave permission for the use of its social rooms for three months, and later the emergency education group was allowed to continue to use the rooms for an additional three months.

Future Action Unknown
Fire company officials pointed out that members no longer use the social rooms on account of the kiddies' school. Previously, the rooms were used almost nightly by firemen who sought relaxation in cards and pool.

Prof. J. Floyd Slaybaugh, chairman of the Adams county emergency education advisory board and county superintendent of schools, was not in his office today, and could not be reached for a statement as to whether or not the kindergarten school would be continued elsewhere after Saturday.

The Gettysburg firemen accepted invitations from the Fairfield fire company and the Emmitsburg fire company to participate in parades in those communities on the afternoon of July 4. The parade at Fairfield is scheduled for 1:30 o'clock, and the parade at Emmitsburg will begin at 6 o'clock.

Report Bazaar Progress
The committee in charge of solicitations for the firemen's bazaar reported progress. Solicitations have been especially productive in the rural section around Gettysburg, 83 chickens having already been contributed. The bazaar will be held at the fire engine house, June 26 to 29, inclusive.

The company voted to participate in the Pennsylvania state firemen's association at Conneville during the first week in October.

James B. Aumen presided at the meeting which was attended by about 50 members.

STATE ENDS ITS POTATO BUYING

Adams County Growers Had Opportunity to Furnish 40,000 Pounds.

Purchase of 10,000,000 pounds of Pennsylvania-grown potatoes, authorized in March by the state emergency relief administration, for distribution to relief recipients over and above food orders being issued, has been completed.

Adams county potato growers were given an opportunity to furnish 24,000 pounds of "spuds."

The purpose of the move was to reduce the surplus of Pennsylvania potatoes, and to popularize the United States No. 1 grade formerly not widely used by Pennsylvania growers.

The results, as quoted from a letter written by officials of the bureau of markets, department of agriculture, to N. E. Brodhead, in charge of distribution in the department of procurement and distribution, state emergency relief administration director, as follows:

Actual cash relief to farmers was great, as shown by reports to the department of agriculture of many farmers with potatoes, no market, and little income.

The price level of Pennsylvania potatoes on the open market was raised sufficiently to justify the entire cost of the project.

Justified Cost

Several hundred potato grading demonstrations held throughout the state were of sufficient educational value to justify a large portion of the cost.

The publicity given the project and the fact that Pennsylvania consumers were given graded United States No. 1 potatoes should have lasting effect on increasing the future consumer demand for Pennsylvania potatoes.

The grading practiced by approximately 450 representative potato growers of the state has had, and should continue to have, a marked effect on the recapturing of Pennsylvania potato markets for Pennsylvania growers.

The educational field work of the inspectors will make it possible to purchase at conveniently located points at less expense.

The note addressed to "Darling Bets," read: "It's no use, Bets. I can't go on without you. I wasted this long hoping against hope you might relent and take me back."

Some directions involving the disposal of his effects were also included in the note.

The man was employed on the FWA job at the Carlisle sewage disposal plant.

SEDAN STRIKES TURNING AUTO

Car Being Turned Around on Highway Is Struck Broad-side This Morning.

While a sedan, driven by John H. Royer, 50, of Altoona, was turning around on the Lincoln highway, eight miles west of Gettysburg, it was struck broadside by a sedan, driven by Miss Pauline Marshall, 28, of Findlay, Ohio, at 11:30 o'clock this morning. No one was hurt. Damage to Royer's car was estimated at $15. No damage was reported to Miss Marshall's machine.

Royer, who had been traveling east, was in the act of turning around on the highway, when his car was struck by the Ohio woman's machine, which was going west. Patrolman C. P. Renz, of the local sub-station of the state highway patrol, investigated the accident.

School Children Need Certificate

Parents of children entering school for the first term are reminded by Dr. Paul A. Rothfuss, deputy secretary of health, that they should have the birth certificates ready for the child to take with him on his first trip to school.

These certificates, known as the Mothers' Notification Certificates are mailed by the bureau of vital statistics soon after the child's birth is recorded with the bureau. The certificates should be carefully preserved for school and vocational purposes. The department does not make a practice of issuing duplicates, Dr. Rothfuss said.

One of the tragedies in the life of the small child who has entered school for the first time with new clothes and shining face, is to be sent home for his birth certificate and told to stay there until he gets it," according to Dr. Rothfuss.

BASS FISHING NOW, ILLEGAL

Commission Says Illegal Anglers Destroy Fishing For the Future.

Branding the practice of taking bass from Pennsylvania waters when they are guarding eggs or young at this time of the year as "the most unimportant and destructive practice in fishing in our state," the fish commission warned today that any individual caught with bass in possession prior to opening of the season July 1 will be prosecuted to the limit.

The bass spawning period in Keystone state waters usually occurs from June 1 to June 18 or 20, and it is a comparatively simple matter for even a novice at fishing to take the parent fish from their nests.

The male parent of both the smallmouth and largemouth bass protects the eggs and young fish. Focusing over the nest, he will strike at any object that approaches. Even a bare hook falling on the nest is taken into the mouth of the parent fish and carried away.

This remarkable parental instinct or protection makes the adult fish easy prey for illegal fishermen during the spawning period, and when a bass has been taken from the nest, destruction of from 2,000 to 5,000 eggs or young fish is the result.

There is little excuse for fishing live bait or plugs in bass waters at the present time, the commission pointed out, for wall-eyed pike, pickerel and muskellunge, game fishes usually taken by these methods of fishing, do not come in season until the opening of the bass season on July 1.

TO ELIMINATE BATTLEFIELD AVENUE CURVES

Hairpin Bends on Little Round Top and Culp's Hill To Be Removed.

WORK TO START ABOUT JULY 15

Hairpin curves on Little Round Top and Culp's Hill, testing grounds for automobile salesmen, but the bane of bus drivers, will be eliminated this summer by the construction of by-pass roads.

Announcement was made today at the local office of the national bureau of public roads on the second floor of the Scharf building, center square, that the Continental contracting company, of Baltimore, was low bidder for the construction of the two by-passes, slightly less than a mile in length.

The bid of the Baltimore concern could not be learned inasmuch as the bids were opened by the bureau of public roads in Washington, D. C.

Start July 15
The Baltimore company was notified that it was the low bidder and was instructed to furnish its bond by June 15. Work is to start about July 15.

Two hairpin curves on Little Round Top will be eliminated by the new road there, and several hairpin curves on Culp's hill also will be obliterated.

The Little Round Top by-pass, a stretch .399 of a mile, will begin at Rosensteins and run in almost a straight line over the hill, north of the present guard's station, joining Skyes avenue on the opposite side of the slope.

The new road on Culp's hill will encircle the observation tower and will eliminate curves in Slocum avenue on both sides of the slope.

Both new sections of highway will be 20 feet wide, slightly wider than most of the present avenues on the battlefield.

Parking Spaces
Parking spaces will be provided for automobiles and buses on both Little Round Top and Culp's hill in the construction of the by-passes.

Insofar as possible, trees and rocks will be allowed to remain, and after the roads are completed, they will be landscaped so as to conform to the general character of the surroundings at both places.

Thirty-five men enrolled with the national re-employment office here will be hired as laborers on the joint project.

Although announcement was withheld at the local office of the bureau of public roads, it was learned that work is being done on plans for the elimination of several curves on the avenue at Devils Den which large buses have difficulty in negotiating.

Easier for Buses
Large buses have always had considerable difficulty in reaching Little Round Top and Culp's hill because of the hairpin curves on Skyes and Slocum avenues, battlefield guides said, and many of the large conveyances made no effort to reach these two vantage points on the battlefield.

When bus drivers attempt to reach Little Round Top and Culp's hill, it is necessary for them to back several times in negotiating the sharp curves. This difficulty will be eliminated by the removal of the hairpin curves.

When bus drivers attempt to reach Little Round Top and Culp's hill, it is necessary for them to back several times in negotiating the sharp curves. This difficulty will be eliminated by the removal of the hairpin curves.

Swat The Fly!

"Prevent the fly now and we will not need to swat later in the summer." Dr. Paul A. Rothfuss, deputy secretary of health said today in announcing the summer health program undertaken by the department.

Field representatives of the department have been instructed to take measures for removing community fly-breeding spots," Rothfuss said.

"Although physicians and health officers have done much in the past thirty years to improve conditions, many individuals still need to be reminded that decaying vegetable and animal matter with a favorable moisture content, are the choice breeding spots for flies."

"The individual citizen who will soon start his own campaign to 'swat the fly' is the very person who can do most during the month of June to eliminate the favorite breeding places of the summer pest."

No Ransom Bills Passed in Midwest

Indianapolis, June 13 (AP)—Captain Matt Leach of the Indiana state police said the serial number on a $10 bill passed in Westville, Indiana, today does not correspond with any paid for the ransom of George Weyerhaeuser, 9-year-old Tacoma boy.

The bill, Leach was informed, was given to D. W. Boarden, attendant at a filling station, by a man traveling in a car bearing California license plates.

The man was accompanied by a woman and a girl the attendant told police.

Solons Rush to Close Session

Harrisburg, June 13 (AP)—House and senate met in "harmony sessions" today to clear the way for a final drive next week against a host of controversial subjects demanding action before the session adjourns a week from tomorrow.

By mutual consent and with many absentees, factions in both houses agreed to forego argumentative matters in order to clean up neglected matters of the week.

Republican senators continued their hunt for a tax to fill out a chain of ten necessary to provide $60,000,000 for relief in the next year. The two possibilities receiving greatest consideration are a two-cent tax on cosmetics and a four per cent tax on amusement tickets.

Before the sessions opened today members of a conference committee met in an ineffectual effort to agree on the governor's constitutional revision bill. The bill passed both branches but the house refused to concur in senate amendments.

SHRINE PARADE VIEWED BY FDR

Fifty Bands and 20,000 Fez-topped Nobles March in Colorful Affair.

Washington, June 13 (AP)—With a whirl of the baton, the blare of fifty bands, a swish of the scimitar and a new rakish angle for the fez, 20,000 shriners tramped in a parade Wednesday night that had President Roosevelt as a reviewer at its end.

Behind them were such matters of business as the selection of the man who will head the organization a dozen years from now and discussion of the choice of the city they will serenade next year.

A. G. Arnold, of El Zagay Temple, Fargo, North Dakota, was elected to the imperial outer guard, thus settling him in a spot that in something more than a decade will graduate him as an imperial potentate.

Seattle Likely Choice
Seattle fell into the groove as the most likely place for next year's Shrine carnival. Cincinnati and several other cities sought it, but Hugh M. Caldwell, of Seattle, next year will move up onto the imperial potentate's throne and that gave weight to Seattle's bid.

Washington was this year's convention city and Leonard P. Stewart, from this city, moved up Wednesday into the imperial potentate's chair by order of succession.

The other officers elected Wednesday were:

James C. Burger, Denver, imperial treasurer.

James H. Price, lieutenant-governor of Virginia, imperial recorder.

Clyde I. Webster, Detroit, imperial chief rabban.

Walter S. Sugden, Sistersville, West Virginia, imperial assistant rabban.

A. A. D. Rahn, Minneapolis, imperial high priest and prophet.

Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls, Texas, imperial Oriental guide.

George P. Olendorf, Springfield, Missouri, imperial first ceremonial master.

Thomas C. Law, Atlanta, Georgia, imperial second ceremonial master.

Albert H. Piebach, Cleveland, imperial marshal.

Morrie E. MacKenzie, Toronto, imperial captain of the guard.

Day of Jollification

Much of the day, however, went to street parades, music, jollification and witnessing different exhibits the army and navy had arranged. And quite a lot of it went into applying liniment to the muscles needed for three hours of an- dling down Pennsylvania avenue in Wednesday night's official parade.

One of the greatest outrusts of the day was that of the fifty-odd Shrine bands which came together in the ellipse back of the White House. The sound of the thousand massed brasses, reeds and drums brought employees of the Internal Revenue bureau, five blocks away to their windows looking for the parade.

Frenzied Crowd Hails Normandie At Home Port After Record Run

Le Havre, June 13 (AP)—A frenzied welcome was given the great liner Normandie when she docked at her home port here at 6:45 p. m. (1:45 p. m. E. S. T.) Wednesday, wearing the blue ribbon for trans-Atlantic speed.

Smashed records for the eastward and westward crossing of the Atlantic fired the huge crowds gathered at the harbor to transports of jubilation.

Whistles of boats in the harbor roared, the city's bell rang out and France's biggest seaplane, the Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris which will go into trans-Atlantic service soon, flew over the mast where the blue ribbon fluttered in symbol of the Normandie's triumph.

Averaging 30.31 knots for the distance from Ambrose lightship to Bishops Rock, the Normandie's official time for the return crossing was four days, three hours and twenty-eight minutes, as compared with the Bremen's record average for the trip of 28.51 knots and time of four days, sixteen hours and fifteen minutes. The 79,000-ton liner averaged 29.61 knots on her maiden trip to New York to hang up another record. She sails again for New York June 15.

NO DEFENSE FOR DOCTOR

Offer No Evidence to Contradict State Charge of Illegal Operations.

Lancaster, June 13 (AP)—The defense of Dr. H. C. Zimmerly, charged with performing illegal operations in his "house of horror" at Mechanics Grove today offered no evidence to contradict the state's contention that Mrs. Gladys Lawson, of Calvert, Maryland, died and was dismembered at his home-hospital.

"The defense rests," was the unexpected statement as the state concluded its case today.

The announcement was made after Zimmerly, pale and nervous, had conferred with his attorneys for a few minutes.

The state concluded shortly after Dr. John W. Rice, bacteriologist of Bucknell, had testified that some three dozen fragments of bone sifted from the ashes littering Zimmerly's farm were parts of a skeleton destroyed by fire.

Closing arguments were deferred until the afternoon session and the jury was expected to have the case before dark.

CONGRESS TO PASS NRA RULE

Long's Filibuster Ends at 4 A. M.; Expect Agreement Sometime Friday.

Washington, June 13 (AP)—Final congressional approval of the NRA extension resolution by Friday night was indicated today when President Roosevelt told house leaders he was willing to accept the measure passed by the senate after crushing a 15 and one-half hour filibuster by Senator Long.

At a white house conference with house leaders the president said he also would accept the Borah amendment to tighten an enforcement of anti-trust laws.

Just before the conference Chairman O'Connor of the rules committee, commenting on the senate addition of the Borah amendment said: "To hell with them. If their amendment is what I understand it to be, the house wouldn't stand for it and I shall fight it."

The senate adopted the NRA resolution extending an abbreviated NRA until next April 1 at 6:10 a. m.

Some senate leaders said that Long while faced and weary, had given up at 4 a. m., leaving Senators Schall, republican, Minnesota, and McCarran, democrat, Nevada, to carry on. They emphasized he was not refused recognition later by the chair, but just "gave up."

Since parliamentarians said it would take unanimous consent to get house approval of the senate measure today the schedule was to bring in a special resolution Friday making it in order to accept the senate resolution.

URGED TO KEEP RECOVERY ACT

Governors in Annual Sessions at Biloxi, Miss., Hear Many Speakers.

Biloxi, Miss., June 13 (AP)—Immediate action to revive the NRA was urged upon the nation's chief state executives Wednesday by Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, on the eve of the opening of the twenty-seventh annual governors conference today.

"It is my hope," he said, "that out of this conference we will be able to evolve a plan to have the executives of the states call for voluntary pledges from employers, with a definite and unified course of action to be followed by the labor departments of each state until such time as appropriate state legislation can be enacted."

One of the early arrivals among the more than twenty governors expected before the conference officially opens today, Mr. Johnston wasted little time in launching his fight for retention of the principals of the NRA. He is scheduled for an address on the subject either today or Friday.

Three Major Topics

The NRA is one of several major topics scheduled for discussion as the chief executives of half the states of the union gather to formulate a program of united action dealing with the relation of the state governments to the national program of recovery, relief and reform.

"One of the most vital and far reaching problems before this conference in my opinion," said Mr. Johnston, "is the preservation of the fundamentals of the NRA with special reference to minimum wages and maximum hours of work."

He said he believed, however, that perpetuation of the NRA or revival of its cardinal principals into compulsory codes and agreements is a matter that should be left to the states as a "guarantee of state rights."

Differs With Byrnes

His views, he said, reflect an honest difference of opinion with those of Senator Byrnes from his own state who recently advocated a change in the constitution of the United States in order to permit congress to retain the NRA and similar New Deal programs.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, chairman of the conference, will join Mr. Johnston in a discussion of the NRA at the conference business sessions.

Though the major speakers have been scheduled for addresses, the hour of their appearance will not be set until Secretary Cary Hardee, of Florida, and members of the executive committee announce final arrangements.

HOUSE DOUBLES PENSION FUND

Total Is Increased From $19,880,000 to $40,000,000 For Biennium.

Harrisburg, June 13—The house Wednesday night by a vote of 133 to 33 increased the appropriation for old age pensions for the present biennium from $19,880,000 to $40,000,000.

The Kobelak bill which was amended was on second reading and the debate on the amendment, offered by Representative Hoopes, Berks Socialist, was prolonged. The amendment was described as a futile gesture by Representative Cohen, York, chairman of the Appropriation committee, who said that it created only false hopes in the breasts of the aged without providing new revenue.

82,294 Eligibles

Representative Hoopes said that the department of welfare's records show the average pension is $20.98 a month. The $19,880,000 appropriation of the bill would provide pensions for only 39,482 persons during the biennium, he said, and there will probably be 82,294 eligibles, he said.

Representative Dent, Westmoreland, spoke for the amendment and Representative Sowers, Philadelphia, said it was the duty of the house to provide the money. Representative Ruth, Berks, majority floor leader, said it was impossible not to raise the additional revenue.

It was declared by Representative Andrews, Cambria, that half the additional $20,000,000 could be raised by readjusting salaries of state workers and the other half by readjustment of local salaries of public employees.

"There is money available without new taxation," he said.

12,000 GRADUATE FROM COLLEGES

Approximately 12,000 young men and women will have been graduated this year from Pennsylvania colleges and universities when June commencements are completed.

The number compares favorably with records of recent years, and includes 10,800 graduates of the fifty-six accredited colleges and universities and 1200 from the four-year courses at the fourteen state teachers' colleges.

From records of recent years it is estimated that twelve to fifteen thousand of the 75,000 Pennsylvania high school graduates of 1935 will enter college in September. Ten to twelve thousand of these should enter Pennsylvania institutions, virtually replacing the college graduates of this year.

As in other years many college graduates this year will return for post-graduate study. In many instances valuable scholarships and fellowships are available for financial assistance to outstanding students. For those preparing to enter the teaching profession there is an increasing desire to take an additional year at college. Dr. Ade said The school of education at the University of Pennsylvania now has a five-year teacher preparation course.

ENEMY'S KISS

SYNOPSIS: With Guy Lumley's help, Alison Reide has determined that Daphne Sumers, who is to marry Alison's father in a few minutes, is really the murderer Daphne Poynter. On their way to confront Daphne, Guy has an accident and has to go to the police station. Alison rushes ahead, and charges Daphne with what she and Guy have learned.

Chapter 40
COUNTERSTROKE
"I don't care," Alison said, "but I know this. I'm not going to let you try my father and kill him too!"
"Why do you think that would please me?"

"I don't know, I suppose you'd get his money." Alison's face was pale, her breath came quickly.
"You'd better ask Dr. Lumley. He knows all about your arrangements at your house at Warley."

It was a shot in the dark, but the effect was startling. All Daphne's coolness dropped from her; she stood up, her eyes glittering.

"Oh!" The tone was menacing. "Does he? Then perhaps you can explain what he was doing there? You're in love with him, aren't you? Well, then, perhaps you know that the police are looking for him on a charge of murder?"

"I don't believe it!" Alison flung that back scornfully.

"No?" Daphne's head was lowered like a snake striking. "Will you believe me then when I tell you that I spent this morning at Scotland Yard, being questioned about what happened in my house? The night that you were there, Alison, a man was murdered."

"You yourself told me that no one else entered the house that night! They wanted to know where I was and I told them—dining with your father. They asked me if anyone else had access to the house—and I lied. Not for your own sake, for your father's. But if I told them what I knew—"

She stopped dramatically. Alison was white now, and she stared at her as though hypnotized. But she said bravely "I don't believe it. You can't prove anything against Guy. And I can tell them that he didn't do it. Why, you yourself said that the movers' men went in next day and found nothing!"

"I made a mistake," Daphne was smooth. "I've asked them and they tell me that they didn't go into the cellars."

"Even then, he'd nothing to do with it. I went down the next morning and there wasn't anything there."

"Did you?" Daphne smiled grimly. "Did you go right into the recesses under the stairs?"

Alison's face answered the question.

"You didn't! And you didn't know, perhaps that Dr. Lumley went down to Warley to kill the man who wrote those anonymous letters!"

"It isn't true!" That was a cry. "Isn't it? You don't know perhaps that one of the letters was found on the man that he killed?"

And the police don't know that Dr. Lumley was there—yet. Don't you think, Alison, you'd better leave your father's affairs—and mine—alone? Unless you want to see your charming friend hanged?"

"You did it! You did it all on purpose!" The words broke in a cry from Alison's lips.

"You think so?" She said that insolently.

"You sent Guy down there, to Warley—you meant to frame him with the murder!" It was guesswork, blind hitting in the dark, yet as she said it, Alison knew that she had hit on the truth. "You knew that other man had the letter and you meant Guy to go down there and find him dead and—"

She stopped. Her eyes grew wide, almost black as the pupils, opening swallowed up the iris. "Oh!" Alison gasped.

"Oh! You sent him—that awful man down to kill me!"

It was clear now—as clear as the glinting, narrowed black eyes which, shifting, avoided her own. Suddenly, as a flash of lightning throws up the contours of a dark landscape, Alison saw.

A plan so safe, so simple, that no one could ever suspect Daphne Sumers of a hand in it, except the murderer, the one person who would never give it away!

Two telegrams, one sent off for Robert, one to the movers—who would suspect that they got mixed on purpose? Above all, who could imagine that Daphne Sumers had any deep design in sending a girl whom she had not met, had never seen, down to the house at Warley?

Was it only by chance that that grey-faced and awful man had come stealing on tip-toe through the house? Or had he been sent there to hide in some corner of the garden and watch for a hired car to arrive, a girl to enter and wait, unsuspecting?

Alison, ice-cold, swaying backwards, away from the dark malicious face so near her own, saw too clearly. Suppose she had not looked up that night or heard the creak outside?

Murder by proxy—and a double murder that would at one blow clear Daphne from all danger from Guy Lumley, leaving him safely hanged or else in prison! No wonder Guy had been afraid to tell her the truth, thought Alison in sick fear; no wonder he was so sure that Daphne meant to kill a second husband! For if that plan had not miscarried, Robert Reide's daughter, the heiress to his money would be lying dead now! He would be able

FINLAND AS USUAL TO PAY WAR DEBT INSTALLMENT

Washington, June 13 (AP)—Finland officially notified the state department Wednesday that it would, as usual, pay its semi-annual war-debt installment of $185,453 on June 15.

Great Britain, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Rumania have announced they would default on payments due June 15, and all other European war-debtors nations also were expected to default.

TO HAVE TO HEAR HUEY IS RULED 'CRUEL AND UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT'

Washington, June 13 (AP)—In the midst of Senator Long's filibuster.

"I SUFFERED WITH CONSTIPATION* FOR SIXTEEN YEARS"

Then ALL-BRAN Brought Relief to Mr. McNeil

We quote from his unsolicited letter: "I suffered with constipation* for 16 years. Finally, I started using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in connection with other nourishing foods. I consider myself a well man at the time, not having had an attack for over two years. I am sure ALL-BRAN helped wonderfully by overcoming constipation."—Mr. L. M. McNeil, Lockwood, W. Va.

"Constipation due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals. Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides gentle 'bulk' to aid elimination. Also vitamin B and iron. This 'bulk' resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is more effective. Isn't this food safer than risking patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief. Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ter against the NRA bill, Vice President Garner Wednesday night flatly stated the Louisiana request that all senators should be required to stay in the senate and hear him talk.

"In the first place," Garner said, while the senate chuckled, "the senator from Louisiana should not ask that."

"In the second place, it would be cruel and unusual punishment."

Read the Bible With Us Daily

And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory.

And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.

For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies.

And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues.

For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her, double according to her works: in the cup which she hath filled, fill to her double.

How much she hath glorified herself, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her; for she saith in her heart, I sit a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow.

Therefore shall her plagues come in one day, death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire: for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her.

And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning.

Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come.

—Revelation 18:1-10.

Wednesday morning.

Among the graduates: Charles Baker, Mary Louise Bayly, John Butt, Paul Cessna, Archie Hollinger, Donald Ikeler, Lloyd Conover Kee-fauver, Viola Miller, Thomas Hay Nixon, Nina Rudisill, Raymond Shank, Evangeline Sieber, Virginia Tudor, Jacob Hollinger, Jr., James Franklin Kelly and Luther Musselman.

Local People Receiving Prizes.—Freshman—Harold L. Creager, Helen N. Musselman.

Pittsburgh Prize in Chemistry—Grover P. Keckler, with honorable mention of J. Howard Reinecker.

Many Pupils at School Reunion.—Memories of the old school days under Miss Mary McClellan were recalled on Monday morning when many of her pupils gathered in the little building on East High street to hold an informal reunion and to pay tribute to the woman under whom so many of the young people of Gettysburg received their early education.

As chairman of the committee, Mr. Duncan opened the session by welcoming all the former pupils. David McConaughy responded and an interesting historical sketch of the school and of Miss Mary McClellan was read by John Reed Scott.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams
THIS SHORT LIFE

IN TERMS of the progressive principle of all life, this brief existence of ours is but a breath. We are part of an endless loom. It is unthinkable that we are born but to bear the tests, trials and emergencies of life—and then to be blotted out of all memory and influence forever.

Nevertheless this earth existence of ours is very brief. All too short in which to crowd anger, envy, vanity, meanness, petty greed and selfish display. I read the other evening that all great writers are pessimistic. I believe this to be only a veil, however, to the more serious and noble understanding that they possess. Perhaps they see more clearly the froth of human existence—which time and appreciation blow away.

Life's deepest meanings do not appear on the surface of things. They lie deep like the precious metals and gems in stones. Perhaps we do not, even now, know but a bit of the beauty that is hidden in the heart of the earth. Every year something new and wonderful is revealed through the research and understanding of man.

We only know that our bodily labors must be concentrated toward useful and helpful ends. We only know that we are frail creatures, looking over a vast chasm which we know we will never be able to bridge. There are higher things, however, than glory, fame, wealth or temporary acclaim. We know that the soul of a man must go through a purification extending perhaps over measureless space in time.

With this thought in mind, how very silly and childish to waste the precious moments that are ours, in hurtful talk, dishonest endeavor, and selfish search.

Our viewpoints count for so much. This short life of ours can become all messed up through small fears, aimlessness, and a lack of desire to rise and become a useful factor in at least an attempt at solving the riddle of the universe. That which brings personal happiness to us is what we are able to solve to our own satisfaction—be that solution ever so faulty.

It's not so much what we do, as it is the purpose behind all aspiration that counts. Not what we have done—but what we have striven to do!

Dr. Dafeo Says Mother May Regain Quintuplets

Atlantic City, June 13 (AP).—To several hundred wives of American Medical association physicians, who expressed particular interest in the mother of the Dionne quintuplets, Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo Wednesday predicted early reunion with their mother, and ultimate union of the entire family.

To newspapermen who questioned him afterward, Dr. Dafeo said: "There is no definite plan, but this is the hope."

Dr. Dafeo spoke at a women's luncheon and offered to answer questions.

"How will the influence of the mother be supplied in raising the quintuplets?" one of the women asked.

"Mrs. Dionne," Dr. Dafeo replied, "is permitted now to see the quintuplets whenever she wishes. She may wash them and do other things. It is our hope as soon as possible to have their mother care for them, and in three or four years to have all ten children together and the family under one roof."

Afterward to newspapermen who asked for more explicit statements about the time of reunion, he said the estimate of "three or four years" for bringing the whole family together was not intended to mean that there is any fixed time limit.

The various steps of reunion, if they can be taken, will occur as soon as possible, he explained.

To the question how long the present state guardianship lasts, Dr. Dafeo replied until the quintuplets are 18.

"But," he said, "anything can happen in that time."

"What is the importance of their heredity in their prospects for a long life?"

"They come from a healthy stock. Some of their ancestors lived to be 80 or 90 years old, so that their chances are fair for a good life."

Despite national reduction in all livestock in 1934, horses and sheep increased in Oklahoma. Peter Nelson, economist at Oklahoma A. & M. college, reported.

Littlestown Athletic Teams Make Good Record This Year

Littlestown high school athletic teams were highly successful during the season just closed. In 58 engagements, 46 victories resulted against 10 losses and two ties.

Thirteen soccer games were won by the undefeated team while two were tied. The boys' basketball squad won 14 and lost two and the girls' team won 10 and dropped five. In the baseball season just ended Littlestown tied for first place in the county league with Biglerville but lost in the playoff, 1-0. They won nine and lost three during the season.

Couch Harold Schriver, of Littlestown, a graduate of Gettysburg college, has an impressive record as coach of baseball since taking over the duties in 1929. Since that time the team has won 49 games and lost 23 for an average of .681. The team won the county league championship in 1932 and again in 1933.

The baseball record for the past seven years under Schriver follows: 1929, 9 won and 1 lost; 1930, 2 won and 8 lost; 1931, 6 won and 4 lost; 1932, 9 won and 1 lost; 1933, 9 won and 1 lost; 1934, 5 won and 5 lost; 1935, 9 won and 3 lost.

Five Littlestown graduates of the last few years have made good on college teams. They are: Jones, Ecker and Worley, Gettysburg college.

GIRL 3, HIT BY AUTO AT CLY; LEG BROKEN

A 3-year-old girl, Betty Drawbaugh, of Cly, York county, was struck by an automobile near her home Wednesday night and suffered a fractured right leg, contusion of the right eye and a possible head injury.

She was brought to the Harrisburg hospital by the motorist, Oliver W. Fitzkee, of York, where she was admitted. Her condition was satisfactory last night.

Fitzkee told state highway patrolmen here that he was traveling north in the main street in Cly and was about to make a left-hand turn when the girl ran into the front of his car.

THE JOYFUL TROUBLES

Last night the mother shook her head.

"Now something must be done," she said.

"They steal the cookies that I bake. They pinch the frosting off the cake. They daily rob the pantry shelves. To feed their playmates and themselves."

"They track the floors with muddy feet."

I work all day to keep things neat.

And in they come with whoop and shout.

And toss their playthings all about.

I wish you'd talk to them and see

If different they won't try to be." Said I: "The woes that you rehearse are bad, but still they could be worse."

Suppose the floors were always neat And never tracked by muddy feet? Suppose there was no one to take The frosting from the chocolate cake?

"Think how much happier you are Than folks who fill a cookie jar And leave it on the shelf and know To steal from it no child will go. How sad and lonely we'd be here If cookies didn't disappear."

grounded on a rocky bottom.

Several compartments were flooded.

Wales' Good-Will Proposal Is Acclaimed in Germany

Berlin, June 13.—The leaders of Nazi Germany Wednesday responded warmly to the appeal of the prince of Wales that World War veterans of all countries should take the lead in extending the hand of friendship to one another.

Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister and Prussian premier, who succeeded Baron Manfred von Richthofen in command of the Richthofen circus upon the death of its founder in April, 1918, declared:

"The prince of Wales' speech should be warmly greeted, since it is intended to preserve the peace of the world."

Hess Welcomes Proposal
Equally cordial was the reaction of Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the national socialist party and, like Goering, a German flier in the World War.

"Naturally I welcome the prince's words," he said. "When British ex-service men come to Germany they can be certain they will be received as comrades by the German veterans. As the spirit of the front-line trenches comes to the surface more in the foreign policy of the various countries, a great step will have been taken toward European peace."

Von Ribbentrop Promises Welcome
Joachim von Ribbentrop, ambassador extraordinary of Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler, declared:

"The words of the prince of Wales at the meeting of British ex-service men will find a warm echo everywhere in Germany. The British veterans will be most heartily greeted by German veterans and by the German people as a whole."

The German press points out that it was Hess who took the initiative in appealing to veterans of all countries to get together to maintain peace, in his speech at Koenigsberg.

East Prussia, on July 8 of last year. On that occasion he addressed a plea, especially to the former soldiers of France, stating:

WOMAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Blast Wrecks Fireworks Plant in Garage Building At Elkton, Md.

Elkton, Md., June 13 (AP).—One person was burned to death and six others injured, one seriously, in a fireworks' plant explosion early Wednesday in the second floor of a garage building where they were employed during the rush season.

The dead: Miss Thelma Dunlap, of North East, Maryland.

The injured: Mrs. Catherine Daniels, 27, Elkton, badly burned over the body and not expected to live; Mrs. Madeline Stewart, 36, of Elk Mills, fracture of leg and burns; Mrs. Edith Harvey, 39, North East, burns; Edward Ash, Jr., 26, Iron Hill, burns; Mrs. Reba Gline, 33, of North East, cut; Eugene Putty, 30, Elkton, cut.

The garage was being used by the Triumph fuse and fireworks company as an emergency plant. It is in the yard of J. Ben Decker, an official of the company, which operates a plant nearby employing about 300 persons.

The explosion, accompanied by a fire that destroyed the structure, occurred just after eight or nine persons employed there had gone to work.

There was a rush to escape, but Miss Dunlap was unable to make her way out.

State's Attorney E. D. E. Rollins still was engaged in probing the explosion in a plant of the Victory fireworks and specialty company, June 4, when one person was killed and 12 injured, three seriously.

SENATE PASSES UTILITY BILL

Concerns Are Found Contrary To Public Policy; Amendment Opposed.

Washington, June 13 (AP)—Impelled by President Roosevelt's personal backing, legislation to abolish 'unnecessary public utility holding companies' was swept through the senate Tuesday by a fifty-six to thirty-two vote.

Hotly debated to the end, final approval was given only after a single vote blocked by a move by Senator Dieterich, democrat, Illinois, to carve out the Wheeler-Rayburn bill machinery empowering the Securities Commission to dissolve or reorganize by 1942, all public utility holding companies it found contrary to "public policy."

Read Note From President
The forty-five to forty-four vote rejecting this amendment after Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, had read a penciled note from President Roosevelt holding such a change 'contrary' to his recommendations, foretold a stiff battle over the same provision in the house.

There a similar bill by Chairman Rayburn, democrat, Texas, was locked in the Interstate Commerce Committee

Just before passage, the senate accepted an amendment by Borah, Republican, Idaho, to increase the diastolic force of the bill by directing the Securities Commission to prevent more than one holding company being imposed upon an operating company.

In a division almost as close as that on Dieterich's motion, it defeated forty-five to forty-three an amendment by Senator Loneragan, Democrat, Connecticut, to deny the Securities Commission power to initiate dissolution proceedings against holding companies. His proposal would have enabled the commission to act only upon outside complaints.

Guffy Votes for Bill
On the passage ballot, forty-five Democrats were joined by nine Republicans one Progressive and one Farmer-Laborite Against passage were eighteen Democrats and fourteen Republicans.

Included among Democrats voting for the bill on final passage was Senator Guffy, Pennsylvania.

SAY GOOD-BYE TO "P. M. FATIGUE"

Put a quick end to that drowsy feeling that steals over you at mid-afternoon. Drink a cup or two of good tea at lunch time. It picks you up. Clears your mind. Makes you feel fresh and fit. And be sure the tea you drink is tea from India. India Tea, in packages displaying the trademark shown below, is better tea—price for price and grade for grade—than teas not containing India Tea.

MAJESTIC
Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" will be brought to the screen of the Majestic theatre Friday and Saturday, starring Frederic March, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, under the direction of Richard Boleslawski.
The role of Jean Valjean, celebrated convict hero who spends five years in the galleys of a French prison ship for the theft of a loaf of bread and finds his whole future life darkened by the petty crime, is played by March. Laughton, as the fanatical detective, Javert, who has dedicated his life to the literal interpretation of the law, offers a characterization which affords a psychological glimpse into the strange workings of the mind of a man-hunter.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, stage and screen star, is seen as the beneficent Bishop Bienville, whose faith raises the hunted Jean Valjean from an unfeeling beast to a noble and prosperous man.

The story reveals the social conditions in the France of Hugo's day, against which his novel was a dramatic protest.

Rochelle Hudson, John Beal and Frances Drake supply a love theme that forms a romantic counterplot to Jean Valjean's desperate career.

In the supporting cast are Florence Eldridge, who in private life is Mrs. Frederic March; Jessie Ralph, Ferdinand Gottschalk and little Marilynne Knowlden.

WALEYS PLEAD "NOT GUILTY"

Confessed Kidnappers Are Held in $100,000 Bail; Taken to Tacoma.

Tacoma, Wash., June 13 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, speeded to Tacoma by airplane from Salt Lake City, pleaded not guilty late Wednesday to two federal charges in the $200,000 kidnapping of George Weyerhaeuser, a crime department of justice agents said they have confessed.

While the hunt for William Mahan, former convict supposedly implicated by the Waleys, went on from Butte, Montana, to Canada on a new set of "hot clues" the suspected pair formally denied guilt of both "Lindbergh law" and mail fraud charges.

Bond was set at $100,000 each on the mail fraud charge, but no bail was set in the Lindbergh law case by United States Commissioner H. C. Fitch, before whom they were taken under heavy guard.

Spirited to Secret Place
As swiftly as they were brought, the Waleys were spirited away in separate motor cars to some undisclosed place, immediately after the court session, which lasted less than thirty minutes.

Federal agents declined to comment on reports that they had been moved to Seattle for safe keeping. It was reliably reported they were accompanied by Harold Nathan, assistant chief of the federal bureau of investigation.

They took the court proceedings in a matter-of-fact way. After waiving preliminary hearings they kissed each other and the attractive 19-year-old Mrs. Waley tilted her head over on her former convict's shoulder.

watch for a tan or light brown coupe bearing a Utah license which the United States border patrol reported entered Canada at Nelway, B. C., June 3, hopeful of rounding up confederates of the Waleys.

A Maetline Falls (Washington) pawnbroker said he believed one of the men in the car, who exchanged a watch with him, was a member of the kidnap gang.

However, police found that two bills passed in Kelowna, B. C., which were believed to have been part of the kidnap money, do not tally with numbers on the ransom list.

A federal agent lighted a cigaret for Mrs. Waley after the hearing. She laughed as she awaited removal from the courtroom and separation from her husband. Both concealed their faces from cameramen.

COMEDIAN WISECRACKS AT REPORTS OF HIS DEATH

Hollywood, June 13 (AP)—Eddie Cantor's banjo eyes danced mischievously Wednesday when reports of his "death," presumably as the result of a recent operation, reached him. Then the comedian retorted: "Listen, when I die, I'll be the first to telephone with the story. And I won't wait so long I can't catch the late editions of the eastern papers, either."

"Anyway, how can I pass out now? Don't they know I've got a contract with Sam Goldwyn? You might die after you leave him, but not before."

PLANE OFF TO MIDWAY ISLAND

Giant Craft Takes Off From San Francisco on 4,000-Mile Flight.

Alameda, Cal., June 13 (AP).—A one-stop flight to lonely Midway island, nearly 4,000 miles out in the Pacific, was started late Wednesday by Pan-American Airways' Clipper plane after it had waited two days for a little stormy weather to abate along the first leg of the route.

The big ship leaped off the choppy waters of San Francisco bay at 2:59 p. m. (Pacific standard time), re-quiring only 25 seconds to get into the air with a heavy load of gasoline and crew of six men. She was 38 miles out at 3:30 p. m.

Technical Study Planned

Capt. E. C. Musick, in charge of the big ship, made no estimate as to the time she would need to reach Honolulu, 2,400 miles away, and said the flight would be devoted to technical matters in preparation for establishment of trans-Pacific commercial service.

Last April the Clipper flew from here to Honolulu in a little more than 17 hours. Her return required more than 20 hours because of stormy conditions.

This time, however, she actually invited stormy weather. She was ready for the take-off Monday but the flight was postponed because conditions were described as "too good." It was explained the crew desired at least 300 miles of rain or heavy clouds.

The weather forecast this time promised varying conditions between here and Honolulu, with a "cold front" presented much of the way, produced by the penetration of Arctic air currents.

Captain Musick said the Clipper probably would remain in Honolulu two days before undertaking the 1,323-mile water gap between here and Midway island.

Although until recently it was only an uninhabited American outpost—a unit of the Hawaiian group—little Midway island has witnessed some ambitious undertakings in the last few weeks.

Commercial Base Set Up

First a construction crew set up a base for trans-Pacific commercial operations.

A few weeks ago its subtropical calm was broken by the hum of more than 40 American naval planes which started en masse from Honolulu and stopped there for the secret fleet operations in mid-Pacific.

As on its first Pacific flight, Captain Musick's crew included R. O. D. Sullivan, second in command; Victor A. Wright, engineering officer; Fred J. Noonan, navigation officer; Harry A. Canaday, junior flight officer, and W. T. Jarboe, Jr., radio officer.

JAPS CONTINUE CHINESE PLOT

Hand Out More Demands From Neighbor; Can Have Help From Others.

London, June 13 (AP).—A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Peiping Wednesday night quoted foreign circles there as saying Japan, in presenting new and sweeping demands to China, had warned her she must not expect help from other powers.

Earlier Reuters dispatches said an outbreak of hostilities in north China was feared at any time after midnight, and British officials were following developments with grave anxiety.

Civilians Fleeing Southward

A panic almost resulted from the new Japanese demands, Reuters reported, starting an exodus of civilians, who were moving southward in great numbers. All trains were reported booked for days ahead.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

The British news agency also said it was reported Japan would hold an aerial demonstration over Peiping today, but police warned the populace to keep calm.

Peiping in State of Panic

A Reuters dispatch from Peiping said Gen. Ho Ying-Chun, Chinese military leader there, had left hurriedly for Nanking to consult the Chinese government concerning new pressure from Japan.

A state of panic, the dispatch asserted, reigned in Peiping as a result of the reported plan of the Japanese to hold the aerial maneuvers.

An earlier report, from Nanking, said Gen. Ho Ying-Chun, Chinese minister of war, had refused Japan's request that China's reply to Japan's north China demands be submitted in writing.

New Demands Reported Made

Another Reuters dispatch from Peiping said new and more sweeping demands had been made of China, among them the wholesale removal of government officials, replacement by persons favorable to Japan and withdrawal of Gov. Sung Cheh-yuan and his troops from Chahar province.

Official circles here feared further important Chinese concessions would be made to Japan in north China, which gave rise to rumors that Britain was contemplating moving its embassy from Peiping to Nanking. Although it was stated the British ambassador now spends half his time in Nanking, it was denied the government was planning removal of the embassy.

Pennsylvania Man Tells How Indo-Vin Drove Out Poisons

MR. GEORGE J. GLASER, of Atlantic Ave., Perryville, Pa., says: "My stomach finally got so bad that everything I tried to eat would turn into gas and bloat inside of me and I was always in such misery with my stomach organs that I never knew what it was to sit down."

MR. GLASER and eat a hearty meal like a normal person does, for my meals caused me so much suffering all through me that I was almost afraid to try to eat. I was in an awful condition and no medicine seemed to act on me at all, but finally I found Indo-Vin, and it has put a complete stop to all the gas misery and awful bloating spells I used to have. I am not afraid to eat any more because my food is digesting as good as it did when I was a child. This medicine is the most wonderful thing I EVER FOUND and I gladly endorse it." You can get Indo-Vin at Peoples drug store, here in Gettysburg, and from all good druggists throughout this whole section.
